In Minnesota's New Capitol.

The thirty-fifth session of the Minnesota legislature was recently called to order at the new white marble capitol in St. Paul. This is the first session of the legislature to be held in the new building, says the St. Paul Globe. The capitol is said to be the handsomest and most artistic state building in the United States. The cost of the structure was about $5,000,000. The interior is exquisitely finished in polished marble of different colors, white predominating. On the walls and ceilings are paintings by some of the most famous American artists depicting scenes in the history of the northwest.
